

Testimonials

Speak to any of our clients and all will say nice things about SRG. We work very hard to preserve and protect our reputation for superior software and support. Below are a few comments:

"It's a mortgage literate system. We don't have to fit to a traditional bank's loan system to handle residential mortgage loans and all the data that goes with them. It accepts Fannie and Freddie data seamlessly. Our customers easily access the system and upload loans in standard data formats, without having to re-key everything."

- VP, Southwest Bank

"Other systems require a large amount of customization, development, time and cost, but WLS allows somebody who wants to enter the warehouse business to get into the market quickly."

- SVP, First Guaranty Mortgage Corporation

"This evolution of technology enables the warehouse loan funding request to be much more integrated in line with the entire closing process, rather than being an obstacle or sidestep to the process. As technology continues to advance and companies like Street Resource Group provide innovative tools specific for warehouse lending, both originators and warehouse lenders will continue to benefit from the efficiencies created. We are able to add significant value back to the originator."

- Tom Holland, SVP of Regions Funding

"Since the implementation of SRG DirectConnect and SRG Messenger, our warehouse department can accommodate more capacity and operate more efficiently and is able to provide our originators tools to enhance their overall operations. We chose Street Resource Group's technology because of its expertise and experience in the warehouse lending industry. The SRG platform significantly reduces the need for our originators to email or call for routine information, and produces a more cost-effective transaction on both sides."

- John Liebgott, The Winter Group

"WarehouseUSA's commitment to the success of our business partners in large part determined our selection of Street Resource Group's Warehouse Loan System. We strive to make it easy for mortgage lenders to do business with us, and offering our customers a fully automated tool for managing their warehouse lines is one way to meet that objective."

- Ken Logan, EVP/COO, WarehouseUSA

"(SRG) believes that the traditional way warehouse lenders make their money will change. As automation takes over you'll find that the warehouse period will shrink. (SRG) is looking at that and not seeing the demise of a business, but is having the futuristic viewpoint that the business will still be there."

- Bill Gorman, SVP/CIO, First Collateral Services

"There would be no Wembley without Street Resource Group. Most days we were finished by 5:15 p.m. and everybody went home and had a good evening. You couldn't do that without SRG."

- Steven Korn, Operations Manager, Wembley Asset Management

"(SRG) has the ability to see the big picture and then turn that picture into an efficient technological approach ... very supportive and very much in tune to our clients' needs.(SRG) not only understands the direction of the marketplace, but plays an instrumental role in ensuring that its clients understand the direction of the marketplace."

- Elaine Batlis, President, Impac Warehouse Lending Group

"(SRG) has a quality product that makes life easier for the client. So, what you're selling makes your client successful and benefits them in the long run. Those kinds of things make you feel good about where you're working and what you do."

- Jim Reynolds, Managing Partner, Reynolds Financial Services

"As a full service warehouse, we focus on customer service and offering a solid service delivery channel to our customers. This upgrade enables us to maximize our resources on the front-end of the business while the SRG Warehouse Loan System streamlines our entire warehouse back office operation and creates greater process efficiencies."

- Helena Dabrowski, CEO, INSOUTH Funding

"By increasing our efficiency and lowering our overall cost per transaction, Street Resource Group's software enables us to grow our entire warehouse business without a significant increase in operating cost. It also allows our customers to have immediate access to information on their entire warehouse pipeline and portfolio and focus more closely on managing their profitability. Additionally, with SRG hosting our technology, we take advantage of their economies of scale and extensive expertise in both warehouse lending and information systems' management."

- Kim Zuccala, VP, New South Federal Savings Bank
